

TR/HKEX RMB CURRENCY INDICES (RXY)

The RXY indices offer independent, transparent and timely benchmarks for Renminbi (RMB) against Mainland China's most important trade partners' currencies. The indices are calculated based on WM/Reuters foreign exchange (FX) rates and managed in accordance with the IOSCO (International Organisation of Securities Commissions) principles for financial benchmarks.

CO-DEVELOPED WITH THOMSON REUTERS

The RXY indices have been created in collaboration with Thomson Reuters, a leading news, information and data provider in global FX markets. The RXY indices are designed to be the basis for investment and trading products such as futures, options and exchange traded funds.

HISTORICAL PERFORMANCE

- Following People's Bank of China's (PBOC) USD/CNY fixing regime reform announced on 11 August 2015, the CNH's performance against a basket of currencies was mostly in line with its performance against USD until recently.
- Since March this year, CNH has weakened against a basket of currencies, but stabilised in range against the USD. The CNY's performance has been similar.
- After 11 August 2015, the volatility of CNY against a basket of currencies peaked towards 8%, before descending to the range of 3-5% towards the end of year.
- Since February this year, the PBOC's policy of keeping the CNY "stable against a basket of currencies" has had a significant impact in the market, with the volatility of the CNY against a basket of currencies trending down to the range of 3-4%. On the back of low volatility of the CNY against a basket of currencies, the USD/CNY fixing rate could show more volatility going forward.

Risks of Trading Futures

Futures involve a high degree of risk. Losses from futures trading can exceed your initial margin funds and you may be required to pay additional margin funds on short notice. Failure to do so may result in your position being liquidated and you being liable for any resulting deficit. You must therefore understand the risks of trading in futures and should assess whether they are right for you. You are encouraged to consult a broker or financial advisers on your suitability for futures trading in light of your financial positions and investment objectives before trading.

The information contained in this document is for general informational purposes only and does not constitute an offer, solicitation, invitation or recommendation to buy or sell any futures contracts or other products or to provide any investment advice or service of any kind. This document is not intended for distribution to or use by individual investors.
